B – Accommodated Courses Teacher's Guide

This B-Accommodated catalog course offers the same features and content as its matched course (by title) in the B-Asynchronous catalog. This accommodated course however contains adjusted default settings to meet some of the most common student accommodations, such as shortened assessments, higher attempt limits, lower mastery threshold, and no time limits on assessments. Allow print is also enabled for students to print lessons and assessments when needed.

Item settings in this accommodated course include the ability for students to access a text-to-speech toolbar, a highlighter tool, an answer eliminator tool, the option to print, and the ability to add question and lesson notes. Most lesson assessments are computer-graded. Some essay questions and activities contain a submission box where students can type their responses or draw, insert images, record and insert video clips, and/or attach files, including Google Drive files.

Each lesson contains lesson objectives, vocabulary, learning text, and check-for-understanding questions. This instructional design allows students to practice the learning skill of searching for answers in context. Many courses offered within this catalog include both online and optional printed materials. B-Accommodated courses are considered asynchronous like B-Asynchronous as the instructional design lends itself to self-paced learning environments.
